~All Are Welcome~

The Department of Music wishes to invite all to join in our weekly screenings of selected classic films, which will showcase music designed to add gripping features to the art of visual storytelling. We would like to promote the idea that sounds are integral to the audience's cinema experience. By showing films of different genres each week, we hope you take a tour with us to explore more about the classics.

This week, we are closing our journey throughout the semester with a Hong Kong-made film In the Mood for Love, directed by Wong Kar-Wai, who is internationally renowned for his auteurism that creates a stylised world in films. Set in the 1960s Hong Kong, In the Mood for Love tells the story between two neighbors: journalist Chow Mo-wan (Tony Leung 梁朝偉) and Su Li-zhen (Maggie Cheung 張曼玉). As the two friends realise their respective partners are cheating on them, they begin to fall for each other; however, they tacitly agree to keep their bond platonic, even though they are in the mood for love...

No registration, just walk in, sit down and enjoy!
