The Department of Music wishes to invite all to join in our weekly screenings of selected classic films, which will showcase music designed to add gripping features to the art of visual storytelling. We would like to promote the idea that sounds are integral to the audience's cinema experience. By showing films of different genres each week, we hope you take a tour with us to explore more about the classics.

This week, we are delighted to present a nostalgic Italian comedy-drama Amarcord by the Oscar-winning director Federico Fellini. Join us in an adolescent boy's growing-up story featured in a coastal town in the late 1930s Italy. Surrounded by a protective mother, a detached father, a freeloading uncle, a sly grandfather and a group of eccentric villagers, how would the teenager live his life? No registration, just walk in, sit down, and enjoy!
